INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON THE AUDIT

To the Shareholders Meeting and Supervisory Board of Dino Polska S.A.

Audit report on the annual consolidated financial statements

Opinion

We have audited the annual consolidated financial statements of Dino Polska S.A. Group (the 'Group'), for which the holding company Dino Polska S.A.(the 'Company') located in Krotoszyn at Ostrowska 122, containing: the consolidated statement of financial position as at 31 December 2018, the consolidated statement of comprehensive income, the consolidated statement of changes in equity, the consolidated statement of cash flows for the period from 1 January 2018 to 31 December 2018 and additional information to the consolidated financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies (the 'consolidated financial statements').

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements:

- give a true and fair view of the consolidated financial position of the Group as at 31 December 2018 and its consolidated financial performance and its consolidated cash flows for the period from 1 January 2018 to 31 December 2018 in accordance with required applicable rules of International Accounting Standards, International Financial Reporting Standards approved by the European Union and the adopted accounting policies,
- are in respect of the form and content in accordance with legal regulations governing the Group and the Company's Statute.

The opinion is consistent with the additional report to the Audit Committee issued on 14 March 2019.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with the International Standards on Auditing in the version adopted as the National Auditing Standards by the National Council of Statutory Auditors (“NAS”) and pursuant to the Act of 11 May 2017 on Statutory Auditors, Audit Firms and Public Oversight (the ‘Act on Statutory Auditors’) and the Regulation (EU) No. 537/2014 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 16 April 2014 on specific requirements regarding statutory audit of public-interest entities and repealing Commission Decision 2005/909/EC (the ‘Regulation 537/2014’). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the ‘Auditor’s responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements’ section of our report.

We are independent of the Group in accordance with the Code of ethics for professional accountants, published by the International Federation of Accountants (the ‘Code of ethics’), adopted by the National Council of Statutory Auditors and other ethical responsibilities in accordance with required applicable rules of the audit of financial statements in Poland. We have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements and the Code of ethics. While conducting the audit, the key certified auditor and the audit firm remained independent of the Group in accordance with the independence requirements set out in the Act on Statutory Auditors and the Regulation 537/2014.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Key audit matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the consolidated financial statements of the current period. They include the most significant assessed risks of material misstatement, including the assessed risks of material misstatement due to fraud. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the consolidated financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we have summarized our reaction to these risks and in cases where we deemed it necessary, we presented the most important observations related to these types of risks. We do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Key audit matter	How the matter was addressed in our audit
Settlement of revenue under contracts with suppliers The Group enters into contracts with suppliers on whose basis rebates, discounts and additional remuneration and fees are awarded to the Group, hinging, among other things, on the volume of purchases and related to promotions and marketing. the statement of profit or loss as cost of sales at the time of sale of the merchandise. The justified portion of the benefits received is allocated to unsold merchandise as at the balance sheet date as a reduction in the value thereof. The large number of contracts with suppliers and the diversity of their terms make it a sizable area of estimation and judgment burdened with a significant risk of incorrect assessment to properly define their nature and the moment when these transactions should be recognized in the accounting ledgers and financial statements. For this reason, we have come to the conclusion that this issue is among the key issues of our audit. The accounting policy adopted by the Group with regard to the recognition and presentation in the financial statements of such settlements arising from contracts entered into with suppliers are described in section 4.1 and 6.23 of the accounting policy and notes. The structure of the Group’s revenues and expenses is presented in Note 10 “Operating segments” and Note 11 “Revenues and costs of the consolidated financial statements”.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • applying analytical procedures, we assessed the completeness and correctness of accounting recognition of such settlements arising from contracts with suppliers; • for a selected sample of suppliers, we verified whether the settlements were based on actual contracts or agreements with suppliers, we reconciled the calculation of the value of the performance recognized in the financial statements with the relevant contracts and agreements and we verified whether the performance period was recognized properly; • we ran analytical procedures to identify key transactions and trends in the recognition of settlements with suppliers and to explain deviations, if any, from our expectations in this regard; • we evaluated the adequacy of disclosures and of the accounting policy.
Uncertainty related to the tax treatment of transactions executed between related parties Within the Group, a number of transactions are executed between related parties, including reorganizations that affect tax settlements. For instance, the following significant transactions have been executed to date affecting the Group’s tax settlements: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • reorganization of the Group in terms of managing activities related to marketing and trademarks; • prepayment of amounts due for services provided by related parties; • distribution of a dividend by a subsidiary to the parent company; • sales of shares and mergers between companies. 	As part of our audit work, we documented our understanding of the interpretation process applied by the Management Board of individual transactions with related parties in terms of their tax treatment and updating these interpretations as a result of evolution in the interpretation environment as well as the accounting and reporting effects of the adopted settlement method along with the assessment process applied by the Management Board of tax exposure to specific issues. As part of our work, we reviewed the documentation held by the Management Board, including risk assessment analyses prepared by experts in the field of tax law.

The Company’s Management Board has presented a detailed description of these transactions in Note 12 “Income tax” to the consolidated financial statements along with the Management Board’s judgment on the correctness of these settlements. The manner of settlement of transactions executed between related parties and their impact on the Group may be interpreted differently by external entities, including tax offices, from the interpretations adopted by the Company’s Management Board. Accordingly, the adopted settlement method is a significant area of the Management Board’s judgment, and as such may significantly affect the consolidated financial statements. The Management Board has presented transactions with related parties in Note 31 “Information about related parties” and tax treatment of key transactions subject to judgment and their impact on the consolidated financial statements in Note 12 “Income tax” to the consolidated financial statements. Also section 4.2 of the accounting policy and notes presents uncertainty concerning the adopted estimates and assumptions, including those related to assets and liabilities and possible provisions related to current and deferred taxes.	We also involved our own experts in the field of tax law in the process of reviewing the documentation and interpretations held by the Management Board in respect of selected significant transactions with related parties in order to support us in evaluating the assumptions adopted for the transactions in question and the manner of their settlement for tax purposes. In our work, we included procedures covering the following activities (without limitation): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • we evaluated the recognition of the transactions in question and the complete fulfillment of grounds for the recognition of assets, liabilities and tax-deductible expenses in accordance with the accounting policy; • we analyzed compliance of these transactions with the applicable tax regulations and assessed the possibility of realizing assets arising from tax settlements with the assistance of experts in the field of tax law; • we evaluated the adequacy of presentation of tax liabilities and disclosures pertaining to potential tax risks in the consolidated statement of financial position, the consolidated statement of profit or loss and the accounting policy and notes.

Responsibilities of the Company’s Management and members of the Supervisory Board for the financial statements

The Company’s Management is responsible for the preparation, based on properly maintained accounting records, the consolidated financial statements that give a true and fair view of the consolidated financial position and the consolidated financial performance in accordance with required applicable rules of International Accounting Standards, International Financial Reporting Standards approved by the European Union, the adopted accounting policies, other applicable laws, as well as the Company’s Statute, and is also responsible for such internal control as determined is necessary to enable the preparation of the consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, The Company’s Management is responsible for assessing the Group’s (the holding company and significant components’) ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless The Company’s Management either intends to liquidate the Group (the holding company or significant components) or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

The Company's Management and the members of the Company's Supervisory Board are required to ensure that the consolidated financial statements meet the requirements of the Accounting Act dated 29 September 1994 (the 'Accounting Act'). The members of the Company's Supervisory are responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditor's responsibility for the audit of the consolidated financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement due to fraud or error, and to issue an independent auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but it is not guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with NAS will always detect material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements may arise as a result of fraud or error and are considered material if it can reasonably be expected that individually or in the aggregate, they could influence the economic decisions of the users taken on the basis of these consolidated financial statements.

In accordance with International Auditing Standard 320, section 5, the concept of materiality is applied by the auditor both in planning and performing the audit, and in evaluating the effect of identified misstatements on the audit and of uncorrected misstatements, if any, on the consolidated financial statements and in forming the opinion in the auditor's report. Hence all auditor's assertions and statements contained in the auditor's report are made with the contemplation of the qualitative and quantitative materiality levels established in accordance with auditing standards and auditor's professional judgment.

The scope of the audit does not include assurance on the future profitability of the Group nor effectiveness of conducting business matters now and in the future by the Company's Management.

Throughout the audit in accordance with NAS, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism and we also:

- identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations or override of internal control,
- obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Group's internal control,
- evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the Company's Management,
- conclude on the appropriateness of the Company's Management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Group's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our independent auditor's report to the related disclosures in the consolidated financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our independent auditor's report, however, future events or conditions may cause the Group to cease to continue as a going concern,

- evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the consolidated financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation,
- we obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of entities and business activities within the Group for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are solely responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the audit of the Group and we remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with the Audit Committee regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We provide the Audit Committee with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and communicate to them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated to the Audit Committee, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.
